

Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Policy

Dallas Center for Photography believes that anyone should be able to access, be inspired by, and discover the power of photography. As an organization, we are dedicated to being a center of inclusion, diversity, and equity for our students, gallery visitors, artists, staff, and board members.

We recognize and celebrate the uniqueness in our differences, including but not limited to race, ethnicity, sex, nationality, age, economic status, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, religion, and ability.

We strive to provide access and opportunities for all to create and appreciate the art of photography through our outreach programming, events, gallery exhibitions, and workshops.

We are committed to listening, learning, and building relationships with community members and fellow arts organizations to ensure that all communities of North Texas are connected with our vision and mission.

We will dedicate our time and resources to expanding greater diversity within our board and leadership positions.

We will advocate for public and private policies in the public sector that promote diversity, inclusion, and equity, and we will challenge systems and policies that describe inequity, disparity, and oppression.
